Mr. Arnold--My observation is that the dispensing by physicians is on the increase. If they have a real bad case they will write a prescription; otherwise they dish out some cheap tablet. Three or four physicians supply houses send men to our town regularly. Other towns in my county report the same condition. Mr. Bastei/w--There must be some cause for this self-prescribing and I would like to know if any one has a reason to assign for it. Mr. Wooten in his paper yesterday said it was the duty of the druggist to make the physician believe he was not the ignoramus he thought him to be. I think the physicians in my part of country think the druggists know too much and one reason they do not prescribe is their ignorance with regard to medicine. I have had prescriptions brought to me that were a disgrace to anybody. One of our doctors can not write the plainest kind of a prescription accurately. He never has prescribed, but simply furnishes samples that are left in his office, and every few days some one comes around and leaves a lot of samples. He uses these and occasionally buys a little extra to give out. Two other physicians whom I have had occasion to correct, or rather to ask them...
